

Climbing the Ladder of Literacy
Billings, Montana

Dear Dr. Robertshaw,

Montana may never recover! Those of us who attended the 2003 Montana State Reading Conference and “witnessed” your presentation are still waking up in the middle of the night laughing uncontrollably! Your keynote address was truly a highlight of the conference and many of us can’t wait until we have the opportunity to see you in action again.

From a personal standpoint, I can honestly say that I have never seen a group of educators more animated than during your address. I walked in once to find them facing each other, sticking their tongues out and laughing with reckless abandon!

Thank you for helping us forget our daily troubles and reminding us that teaching should be fun.

Jerry Guay,

MSRC 2003 Conference Chair
